Second Race Day of the Summer Series, Sunday, July 17

The weather forecast for today called for showers and thunderstorms (which we never got). Apparently this unpromising forecast scared some people away from the centerboard races, because only three boats showed up, two JY 15s and one US420.

Three centerboard races were run. All of them windward/leeward races twice around the West Shore mark. Although the wind was a mild 6-8 knots, one crew—who shall remain nameless— managed to capsize their JY15. Even though the boat turned turtle on them, the intrepid crew got it right-side up again and finished the race.

Two of the three centerboard races were won by Byrne O'Brien and Peter Walsh. Full centerboard results are on a subsequent page.

For the keelboat race, the turn-out was slightly better than for the centerboard races as we had four regularly registered boats and two kibitzers who sailed along for the long upwind leg. Among the registered boats, we welcomed a new boat, the Hunter 27, WYRD, sailed by Will Sellers and his brother-in-law Brian Richardson

KARINA, a Ranger 26, on the downwind run.

The course for the keelboat race took us south to the Pile Cluster (by Stewart Park) and then back north to the East Shore mark, from there west to the Maplewood mark, and then home to the Yacht Club. We started out in 8 knots of wind, had a 2-knot lull during the spinnaker run from the Pile Cluster to the East Shore, but then the wind picked up big-time, and when we finished, the lake was covered with white caps.

The keelboat race was won by Dave Feavearyear and crew with their J-24, SNITCH. Detailed results and JBY Series standings are on the following page

Third Race Day of the Summer Series, Sunday, July 24

The skippers' meeting for the centerboard races will be at the Ithaca Yacht Club's dinghy lawn at 11:00 .m. The first start for the centerboarders is planned for 11:30. The skippers' meeting for the keel boat race will be at 2:00 p.m. at the South Pavilion of the Yacht Club. The start of the keel boat race is scheduled for 2:30, wind permitting.

Wishing you all lots of wind and great sailing!
